Security Jobs Network™ is a subscription-based service that provides up-to-date information to its readers based on comprehensive research and collection of current professional-level security and loss prevention opportunities. SJN research covers an extensive range of open source information to include search firms, corporate recruiters, professional associations and personal network contacts from around the world.

SJN's role is to save the job seeker valuable time by identifying and qualifying information on current opportunities. With the information available on the SJN site, the job seeker can more accurately formulate position-specific responses to listings of interest. This allows SJN's subscribers to maximize their time to focus on developing an effective job search strategy and marketing plan, as well as network with their peers.

Since its launch in July 1998, SJN has carried over 50,000 security jobs. Positions on the SJN site are professional-level opportunities with compensation ranging from $40,000 - $350,000+. Job listings are updated several times weekly and for informational purposes remain active for 30 days. Within each listing, subscribers are presented with the organization's preferred contact method and details, thereby allowing the job seeker to have control over, and be responsible for, their own job search efforts.

SJN remains the most definitive source available for non-technical related professional level positions listings within the following categories:

- Management of a Corporate Security or Loss Prevention Function
- Investigators-Public, Private, Criminal or Civil
- Contract Security Management
- Security Consulting
- Executive Protection
- Other Salaried, Protection of Assets Related Positions

Employers, recruiters and advertising agencies may post an unlimited number of positions at no charge, and there are no restrictions on listing size. SJN offers employers this service fee free; therefore, SJN is not limited to only a handful of position postings that result from paid advertisements. This ensures SJN subscribers have access to a larger quantity of industry-specific positions as compared to pay-for-listing sites. Free job postings can be submitted via the website at: www.securityjobs.net

Subscription rates are extremely affordable, ranging from $3.10 - $3.50 (USD) per week depending on duration. The lower-cost discounted rates are offered for longer running subscriptions. Registration request forms are accessible online via the website.
